Teaching Experience

- I taught for a full year at the University of Sharjah on a part-time basis, during which I delivered several courses related to my specialization in Criminal Law, such as Criminal Procedures Law, Penal Code (General and Special Parts), Criminology and Penology, and Criminal Law on Offenses Against Property and Persons.
- I also joined the University of Khorfakkan on August 26, 2024, and continue to serve there to this day as a faculty member — Assistant Professor in Criminal Law. During this time, I have taught several courses related to my main specialization, as well as other courses in Public Law.

Moreover, for the first time at the University of Khorfakkan, specifically in the College of Law, a group of students began their training program. I supervised the first cohort and accompanied them throughout their external practical training until its completion.

Conferences & Workshops

Regarding participation in conferences, I have not participated in any conference yet, but God willing, I am striving hard in the future, and through joining Khorfakkan University, and alongside my fellow faculty members, to participate in many conferences, and to have a prominent and important role in them.

However, I attended a conference held at Khorfakkan University that was related to artificial intelligence, to add to my knowledge, the concept of artificial intelligence and its role in educational institutions in particular, so that we can know in the future how to deal with it.

Attending the training workshop entitled "Understanding the Future of Generative Artificial Intelligence and Higher Education".

Attending the seminar on spaces for creativity and innovation in libraries - practical solutions and applications.

Attending the scientific workshop entitled: "The Archival Document and the Rules for Building Historical Discourse (Areas of Employment and Difficulties of the Construction Process)." Which was held on 5-9-2024.

Attending the virtual seminar organized by the Library Administration in cooperation with the Libraries Administration at the University of Sharjah.

Attending the lecture on academic integrity in higher education, presented by Dr. Hussein Mahdi on Tuesday, October 29, 2024. It contributed greatly to enriching some matters for me, related to academic integrity, which every faculty member must adhere to and consider while performing his work, and it developed my professional knowledge very significantly.

Attend the training workshop "How to use devices in hybrid classrooms" on Wednesday, October 2, 2024

IEEE XPLORE Training and authorship session

Attendance of the virtual workshop

Host: EBSCO

Research Interests

- My research interests focus primarily on criminal law and, more broadly, on law as a whole. This is my field of specialization and passion, and I am deeply committed to continuously developing my expertise in it. I aim to produce rich and impactful research papers and scholarly contributions.
